radically from it late middle chinese is the standard language of the high tang dynasty based on the dialect of the capital chang an it has not been reconstructed previously as a separate stage but is of special importance since it is the ancestor of most modern dialects early mandarin represents the speech of the yuan capital dadu present beijing around the year 1300 for which pulleyblank s reconstruction differs considerably from that of hugh m stimson the sources and methods used in these reconstructions were fully discussed in middle chinese but recent developments in phonological theory have led to some modifications in detail the entries are arranged alphabetically according to the pinyin system with an index by the traditional kangxi radical and stroke numbers the morohashi number is also given for each character enabling easy reference to this important chinese thesaurus another useful feature of the lexicon is the inclusion of the numbers in karlgren s grammata serica for characters that are included in that work concise english equivalents for the chinese words are also provided reconstructed forms are given in the international phonetic alphabet though this requires a number of phonetic signs and diacritical marks these are carefully explained in the introduction every effort has been made to provide a useful tool for students of chinese literature and china s relations with foreign countries as well as for specialists in chinese linguistics
